Projection

Current: Liga Portugal / Belgian Pro League starter

Long-term: Bundesliga /
Serie A mid/lower-table level

- Miladinović is a developing right-footed left winger who became increasingly important for Čukarički during the 2025/26 season, offering direct attacking value through ball carrying, box access and repeated involvement on the left side.
- Operating close to the touchline, he uses control, speed and dribbling to escape pressure before attacking the byline or cutting inside to create shooting opportunities.
- Regular movement into the penalty area gives him opportunities to receive, protect the ball through contact and finish under pressure, although his scoring return has not fully matched the quality of his chances.
- Creative contribution comes through short combinations, key passes and deliveries from advanced left-sided areas, but crossing accuracy and final-action consistency still limit the overall output.
- Out of possession, Miladinović has developed into a more active contributor, pressing from the front, recovering into deeper areas and competing for possession across the left side, with further improvement needed in the timing and control of his pressing.

- Box Threat: Makes regular movements into the penalty area and offers a reliable receiving and finishing option under pressure.
- Ball Carrying: Uses control, speed and awareness to progress along the left side, attack the byline and move inside when central space opens.
- Defensive Work Rate: Covers the left side with consistent intensity, pressing from the front and recovering into deeper areas to support the defensive structure.

- Final Delivery: Needs to improve the accuracy and consistency of crosses and cut-backs after reaching advanced wide positions.
- Chance Creation: Can turn more of his final-third involvement into clear opportunities through better timing, pass selection and execution around the penalty area.
- Finishing Efficiency: Must convert a greater share of the strong shooting positions and box touches he already generates.

- Best fit: A left-sided forward in a flexible attacking structure, with freedom to move inside, receive between the lines, initiate attacks and counter-attacks, and arrive in the penalty area. His profile can suit both high- and low-possession teams.
- In possession: He benefits from an overlapping full-back and a forward capable of receiving with his back to goal, creating quick combinations and drawing defenders away from the spaces he attacks.
- Out of possession: He fits a role that supports the defensive structure by closing space and tracking back, while remaining an important outlet for counter-attacks and contributing to the first line of pressure during opposition build-up.
- Less suitable: He is less suited to a fixed touchline role where he is isolated and mainly asked to circulate possession or deliver crosses from wide areas.

Scouting Profile

- Shows clean control, using his first touch and body orientation to protect possession and prepare the next attacking action.
- Offers useful passing ability and vision while carrying, finding teammates making runs into the penalty area or creating shooting opportunities after beating his opponent.
- The ability to use both feet allows him to operate across the width of the final third and creates uncertainty for defenders.

Development Focus

- Can improve the quality and consistency of his crosses, cut-backs and final passes after reaching advanced positions.

Physical

- Has the pace and agility to escape pressure, carry over distance and separate from defenders in wide and central attacking situations.

- Maintains a strong work rate across the left side and is willing to compete aerially despite limited efficiency in those situations.

Development Focus

- Improve efficiency in direct and aerial duels while maintaining his intensity across attacking and defensive phases.

Tactical

- Operates mainly from the left side, varying between holding width, receiving between the lines and moving inside to attack central spaces.
- Provides regular box entries and depth, arriving to receive or finish while using his physical resistance to remain involved under pressure.
- Supports defensive transitions by tracking back and closing space, while positioning himself as an outlet to initiate counter-attacks.

Development Focus

- Develop greater consistency in his off-ball timing and final-third positioning to turn attacking involvement into more chances and goals.

Psychological

- Miladinović has a proactive attacking mentality, regularly looking to progress, take on opponents and influence actions near the penalty area.
- Demonstrates strong commitment without the ball, pressing from the front and recovering into deeper areas to support the team across phases.
- Can become too ambitious in possession and pressing situations, with high-risk decisions and unnecessary fouls reducing the value of otherwise positive actions.

Development Focus

- Improve decision-making and control in high-risk actions, including ambitious passes, carries and pressing engagements.

Statistical & Data Analysis | Attacking Winger Profile

Uroš Miladinović | FK Čukarički | Serbian SuperLiga | 2025/26

- Goal Threat
- Defensive Contribution
- Ball Carrying
- Chance Creation

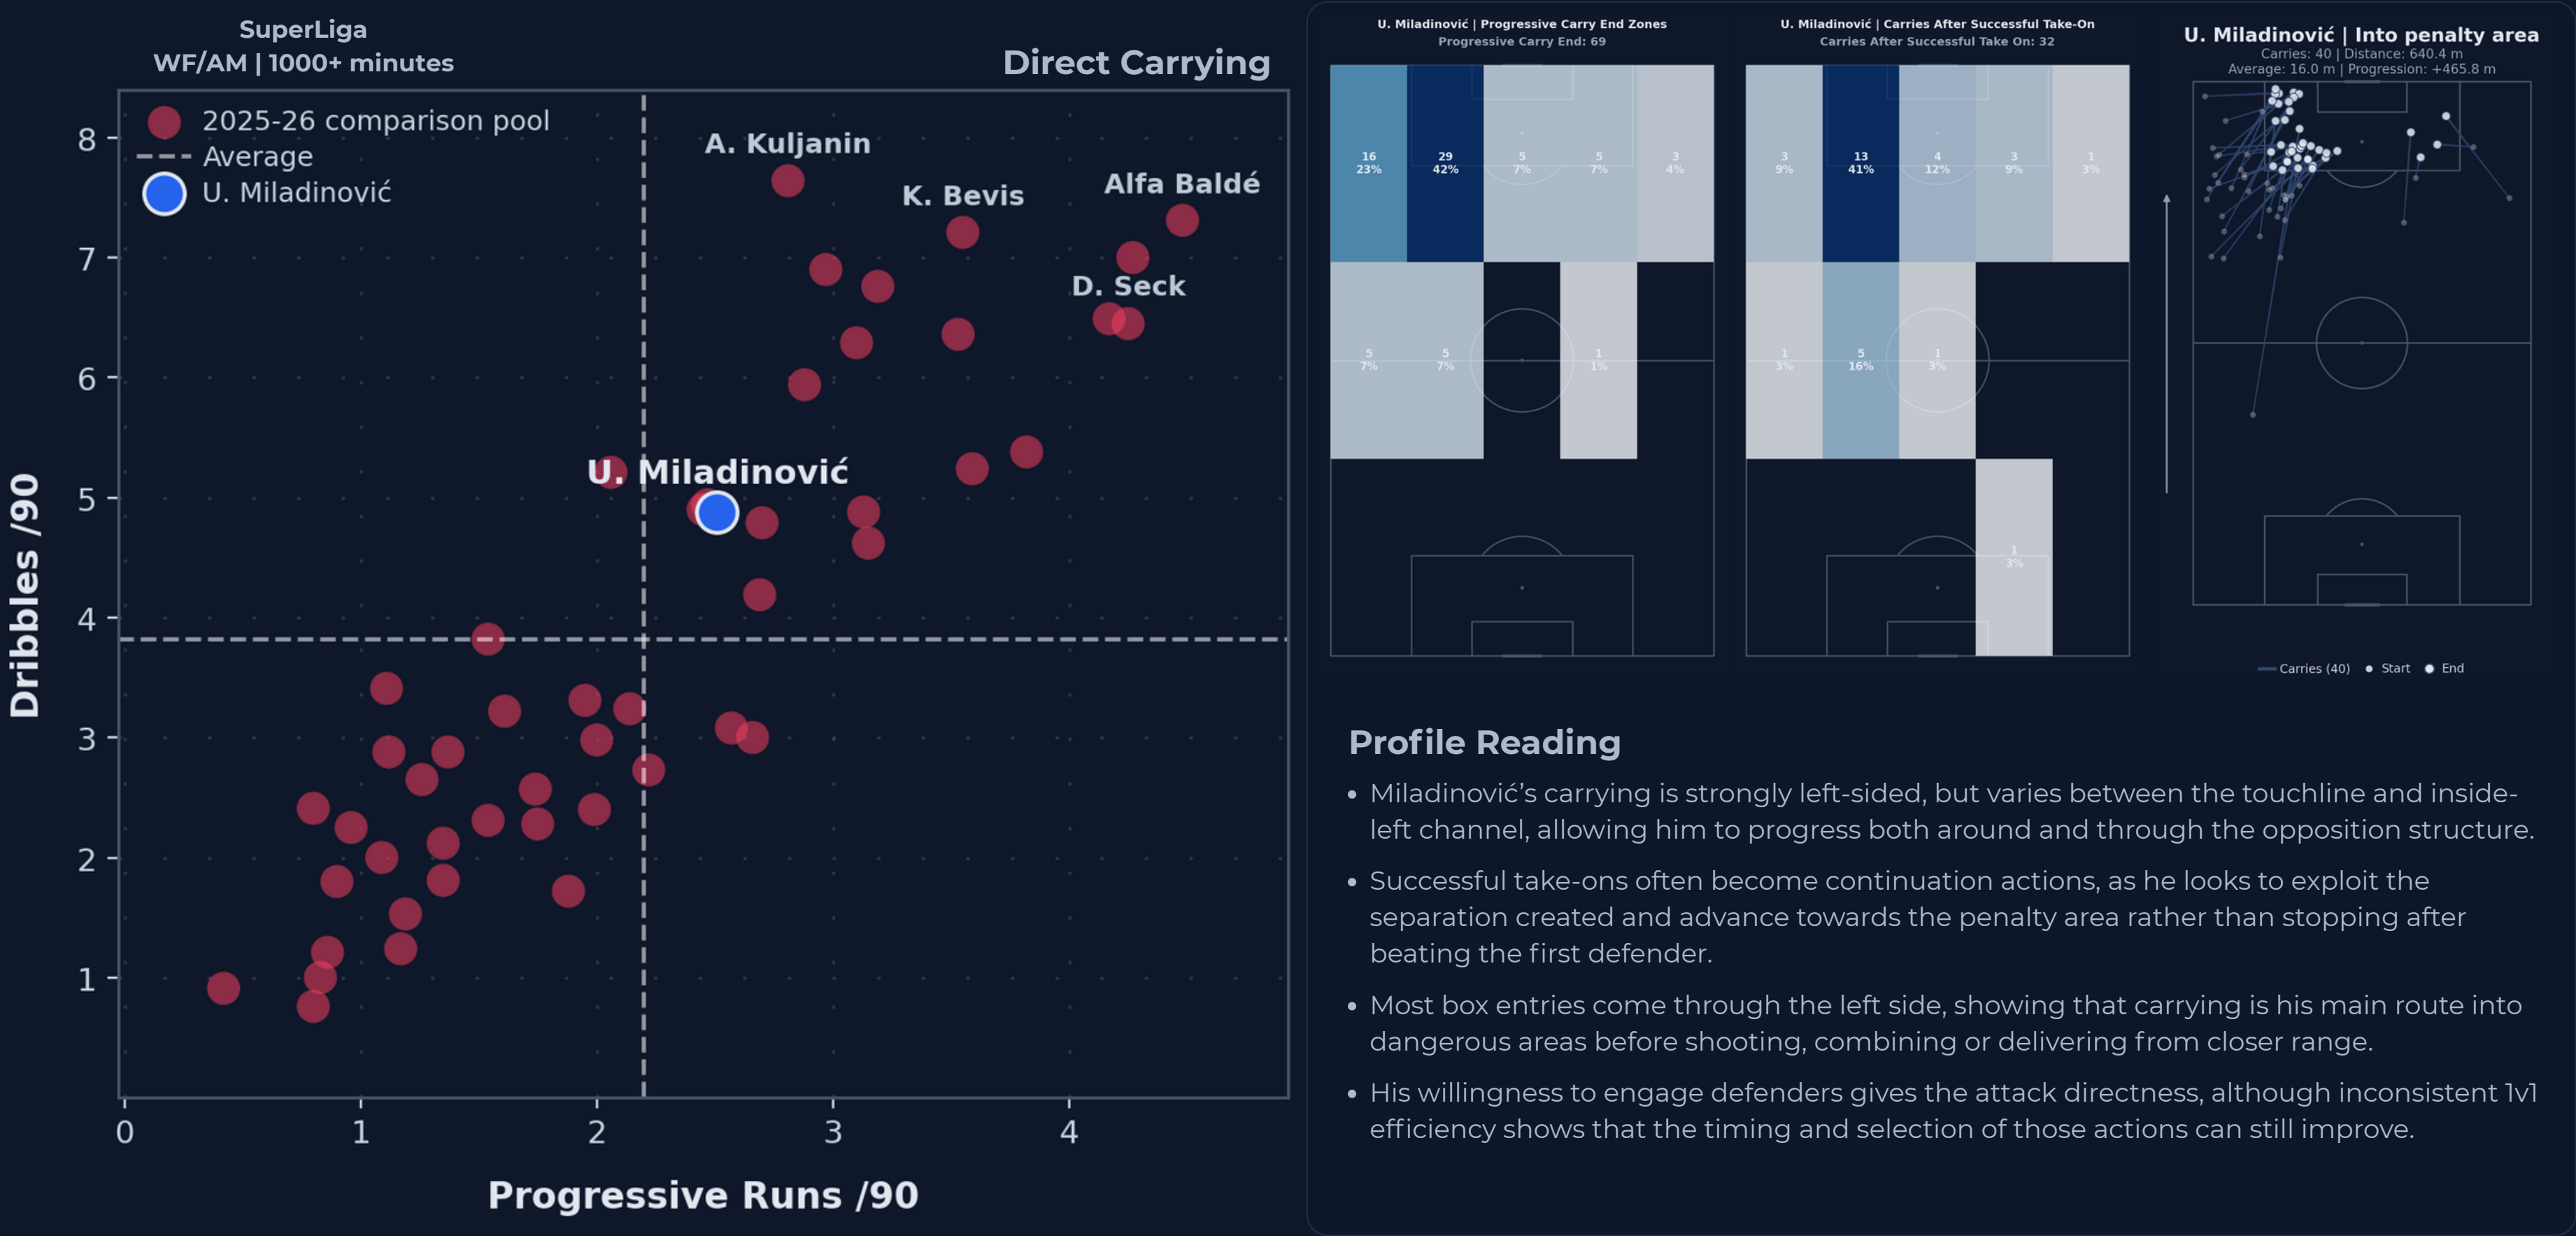

Scout Interpretation

- Miladinović profiles as a direct, box-oriented winger, with his strongest comparative output coming through expected goals, shooting volume and regular touches inside the penalty area.
- His non-penalty xG and goal rates both sit above the comparison-pool average, while six non-penalty goals from 7.66 nP xG show a modest gap between opportunity quality and scoring output rather than a significant finishing concern.
- Above-average progressive-running and dribbling volume support his profile as a direct ball carrier, although his success rate in 1v1 situations remains less convincing than the frequency of his attempts.
- Defensive-duel volume and adjusted interceptions show an active contribution without the ball, while his lower rankings for chance creation and crossing indicate that his current attacking value comes mainly through penetration, shooting involvement and box presence.

Profile Reading

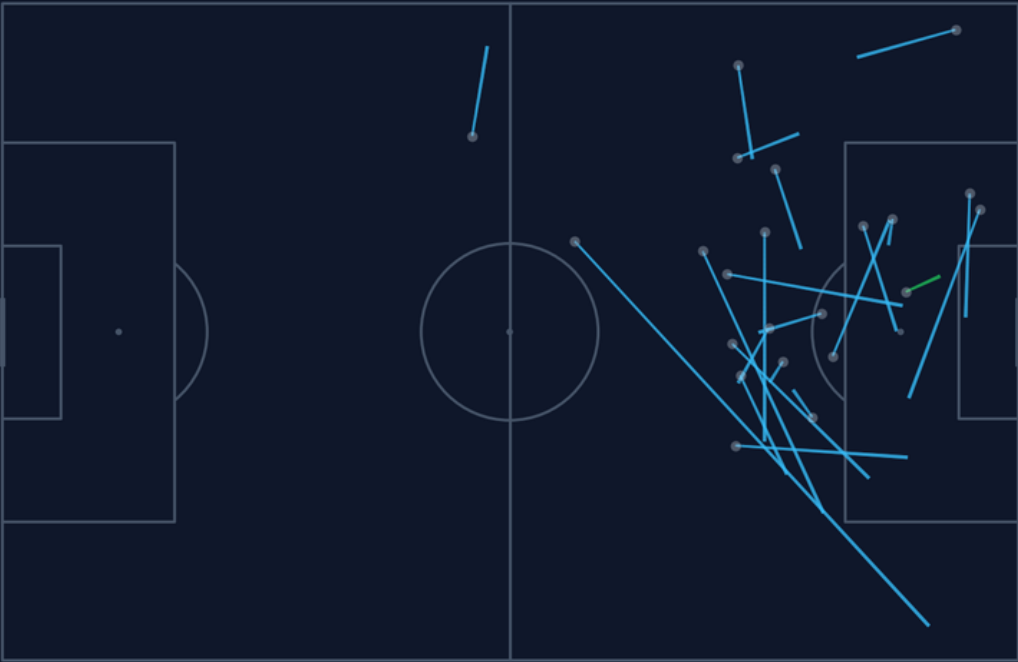

- Miladinović's shooting profile is built on high involvement and regular shot volume, with most attempts coming from central and left-sided zones around the penalty area. His highest conversion rate came from right-sided positions, although this was based on only nine attempts.
- Carries leading to shots show that his threat is often self-generated, using progression and take-ons to move the ball into shooting situations rather than relying only on final actions from teammates.
- Despite reaching good-value shooting zones, the return remains modest, with six goals from 66 shots and a small underperformance against his non-penalty xG.
- The overall picture is of a winger who consistently arrives into scoring positions and gets shots away, but still has room to turn that attacking access into more efficient finishing output.

Profile Reading

- Miladinović created 22 chances, mainly from advanced left and inside-left positions, directing passes towards central and far-side areas of the penalty box.
- Crossing volume remains modest across the season, reflecting his tendency to continue carrying towards the penalty area or move inside rather than deliver early from wide positions.
- When crossing, 24 of his 37 attempts followed a carry, showing that deliveries are usually created through his own progression, although only five were accurate, leaving room to improve execution and timing after high-speed actions.
- Ball losses are concentrated in attacking zones, while his recovery work comes mainly on the left side and across the middle and defensive thirds, showing his willingness to track back and support the defensive structure.

Development Pathway | Current Level & Market Context

Uroš Miladinović | FK Čukarički | Serbian SuperLiga | 2025/26

Current Profile

FK Čukarički | Serbian SuperLiga

- Developing left-sided forward with strong ball carrying, box presence and active involvement in shooting situations.
- Ready for a step up in level; still needs more efficiency in final third creation, crossing and finishing.

Next Step

Liga Portugal / Belgian Pro League

- Join as a starter or regular rotation option with clear pathway to build consistency.
- Freedom to attack inside from the left, combine in half-spaces and arrive in the box.
- Would benefit of a club that develops his final action and decision-making without removing his directness and drive.

Long-Term Projection

Bundesliga / Serie A mid-lower table

- Progression to a top-five league depends on improved creative output, possession efficiency and finishing consistency.
- Projects as a direct attacking option who can play inside, half-space and left channel, not limited to an isolated role.

What the next step should provide

Regular minutes

Consistent game time to build rythm, confidence and final third production.

Suitable role

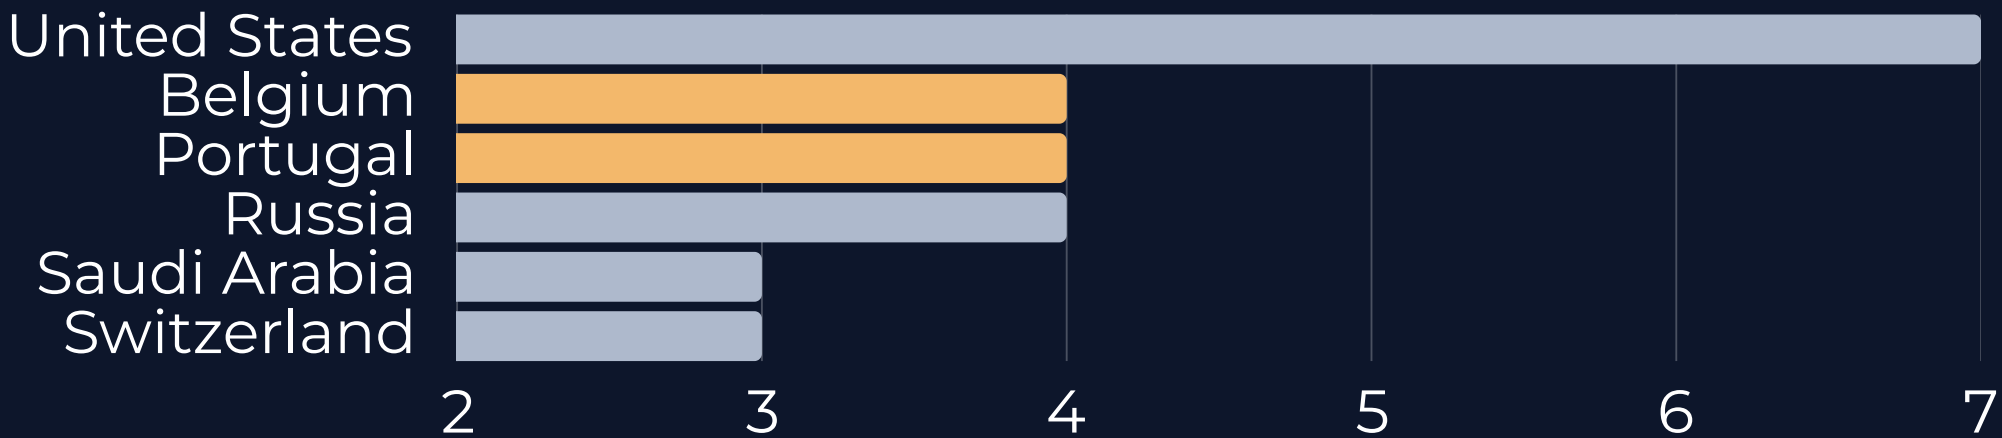

Left-sided attacker with freedom to cut inside, combine and attack the box in transitional and possession phases.

Higher-pressure development

A competitive environment that challenges decision-making, execution and efficiency in the final third.

Market Context

Foreign Market Routes | Transfer History 2021/22 to 2025/26

FK Čukarički have shown a track record to move young players, such as Mihajlo Cvetković, to foreign markets across multiple leagues. Belgium and Portugal represent credible development routes. The next move should be judged primarily on tactical fit, role clarity and playing opportunity.
